NEWARK PUBLIC SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS INDUSTRIAL ARTS

1931

1932

Arts High School, the premier Visual and Performing Arts high school in the nation, opened its doors to students in September 1931 as the first school of its kind in the United States. Our program almost immediately became the model for the High School of Art and Music in New York City. While the curriculum of Arts High School was initially viewed as unusual and a definite deviation from the academic mainstream, its value to the cultural community was immediately apparent and appreciated. According to Harrison E. Webb, our first principal, "It was taken for granted that art and drama were to be regarded as major pursuits, comparable in importance to Latin, mathematics and the sciences in academic high school".

Some of our esteemed graduates include singers Sarah Vaughn, Melba Moore and Connie Francis. Our alumni also include jazz artists Wayne Shorter and Woody Shaw, Philadelphia Orchestra member Seymour Rosenfeld, music directors Mort Lindsey and Charlie Calello, actors Taurean Blaque and Tisha Campbell, ballerina Beatrice Rodriguez, fashion designer Steven Burrows, and dancer/choreographer Savion Glover.

Jessica Alicea: I didn't come to AHS to make friends or to hate on anyone. I came to learn. I may not know many of the people I am graduating with, but I will miss everyone. XOXOXO Zakkiyyah Beasley: "A class that prays together stays together". Congratulations '07! I wish you the best of luck in the future.

Tiffanie Baine: Ten years from now it won't matter if you were popular in high school, how you looked, or what you wore. All that will matter is what you make of yourself. See you around class of "07" in the corporate office or sweeping the streets.

Tyree Barnes: We don't deal with things the way they are... we deal with them the way we are!!!

Philip Bastos: "You only get one shot. Do not miss your chance to blow 'cause opportunity comes once in a lifetime." (Eminem)

Chloe Bey: Throughout my four years here at Arts High, I've been through a lot. But, I would like to thank my friends and my teachers for helping me overcome the obstacles that I have encountered. I love you guys and I'm going to miss you.

Kalima Billups: "To my favorite senior class: We laughed together and we cried together. And as we depart from this fantasy situation, I wish you all the best. Next stop: THE REAL WORLD! A place where smiles aren't always sincere and when you guys feel insecure, know that you have love. What a year! You reppin'! '2'7

Kareem Brown: "May the Lord be with you forever and ever. Amen."

Amore Bute: I just want to say to all of my best friends William, Chanelle, Sharese, Walm, and Mu; to make life fun and I will always be there for you all.

Cali Burks: After 4 years of being at Arts High, I have really enjoyed myself! I can't wait to graduate but I know I'm going to be really sad when I go! Alumni Day, I will be back to say Hi!

Silky Carter: Follow your heart and remember that only you can set limitations on yourself. Only you can determine your success in life.

William Chalmers: At Weequhaic I would have shined above the rest, at Westside I could have been a mess, but in my years at Arts I shined among the best! 07!

Roman Cruz: What it is!! This is your boy, Tito doing big things... Ya digg?

Yajaira Cruz: My years at Arts have been full of ups and downs; this isn't good or bad, but just the way of things. Nothing ever lasts forever and because of this we have to say goodbye... C/o 07 keep it up!

Jeremy Cobb: Love powers the heart, hate kills it. Love everyone.

Khelli Dowdell: I was once told high school would be the best four years of my life. It was also the quickest. I've grown so much and owe it all to the great Arts High (especially Mr. Smith).

Athalia Dunkley: I want to thank all my friends who encouraged me in my toughest times and all those who cared.

Courtney Dunnell: W.O.W. I can't believe I finally did it! Overall, I'm going to miss each and every one of my friends and teachers. I would like to thank them for helping me.

Nadia Durham: A true diva commands attention without demanding it.

Merrilyn Ealy: These four years, we all have been on this one Big Roller Coaster Ride, at least we all got off safe. Best Of Wishes Giselle Encarnation: I finally made it!! I want to thank God, family, and friends. Senior year was the most stressful year in high school but we made it. Arts High was the best experience ever.

Muyiwa Omisore: First and foremost, I want to thank God for everything. I also want to thank my parents, sisters and brothers for their guidance and faith in me. And to the Class of 2007: It was fun and I love you all. Stay focused and keep God first. To Ms. Pettiford, Mr. Denard, Ms. Bynum, Ms. Holloway and the rest of the teachers that believed in me, thank you.

Irene Padin: Be spontaneous, confident, impulsive and positive, but remember to make the right choices and not lose yourself on the way.

Alnisa Petty: Arts is telling a story, and even though we may have different ones to tell, it is ultimately our passion for the arts that diminishes our differences and brings us together in the end.

Confused Life

By Marques-Aquil Lewis

A confused life is what I live because it is like since you've been gone, I wish you were not dead.

My confused life cleared up when you smiled, and the way you would make your poetic sound made the whole room go wild.

A confused life leaves a message saying, "I will be back" and I would believe it because I just knew you would return. Dad, why did you leave me here alone while God accepted you home?

Sitting at your hospital bed while they had a tube in you, I was scared. Tears coming out of my eyes because I couldn't be strong any more. It was like my emotions and heart were going to war.

So, I write to say, "I love you."

So I write to you to say, you were right, poetry is real.

So I sleep at night praying to see you in the morning and maybe you would say, "Son, I'm back."

You see, your spirit would make people proud to be black, and help people realize they must give back.

So I write to escape a confused life and that dark light.

So I write to ask God why papa Suli had to go to sleep and not say, "Goodnight"?

Suli, don't go to sleep, I'm not finished yet. I miss the way you would sit in the seat while people would do their piece, you would go to sleep and always wake up at the end and say,
"Good job."

But as you lay in your hospital bed I heard you yell six times, "City Champions Arts!"
because God told you before we knew.

You see, when I was sad, you wouldn't let me put my head down, and you would say the enemies were the clowns, and the end of the day was the best part because that's when you would come around.

You were my father.

I said you were my father.

The one that replaced the one I lost when I was nine and now it's like I'm losing my father all over again.

So I honor your smile and your poetic sound.

I just can't believe you had to go and I don't know how much more I can take now.

Dad, I wish you were still around so you, Solomon and I could continue to have our sit downs.
That's all I have to say until I see you at the gate, so just save me a spot because the way things are looking in Newark, I'm on my way.

Signed,

Your son.

Mr. Jasonn Denard has influenced many of us here at Arts High School. He is much more than a teacher. He is a parent, a friend and a peer. He has developed personal relationships with most of his students and holds a special place in the hearts of the Senior Class of 2007. As we go on, it is unlikely that Mr. Denard will be forgotten by any of us. He has challenged us both inside and outside of the classroom. Mr. Denard, you will be missed and we hope that future Arts High School students will be able to experience your awesome character and creative lesson plans. You are truly an inspiration. – A Member of the Class of 2007

“I have tried to intertwine Language Arts with that of a real life situation to gain the interest of my students and allow them to dig deeper into their work. By encouraging youth to dig deeper into the subject, I think that they will have a greater understanding of how to function in the ‘real world’. I hope that I have taught you all to ‘dig’ deeper and hope you continue to do so throughout life. I also hope you remember the non-academic life lessons. I hope I have given you a glimpse of, and prepared you for, what is to come. Throughout my three years here, I have developed bonds with many of you. I hope that I can continue to be a person who is trusted and is looked to for guidance. There were some rocky times, times when we may not have gotten along, but I hope you learned from those times as well. You are my first graduating class and while I am sad to see you go, I am eager to see what you will offer the world. I am confident that you will be successful in all that you do. You will never be forgotten. Farewell, ‘Knuckleheads.’ – Mr. Denard

A. The fury within

Violence by insurgents and sects increased in Iraq despite efforts by Iraqi police and troops from the U.S. and other countries. More than 3,000 U.S. troops died in Iraq since March 2003. Iraqi authorities reported almost 17,000 of their countrymen died in that period, although estimates varied greatly. The U.N. estimated more than 1 million Iraqis fled their homes.

B. Iraq War reexamined

The Bush administration revised its Iraq strategy after a spike in sectarian violence, the results of the November elections and the Iraq Study Group report. Donald Rumsfeld stepped down as defense secretary a day after the elections; Robert Gates, a former CIA chief, stepped into the position. And President George W. Bush proposed an increase of more than 20,000 U.S. troops in Iraq.

C. Rising again

Rebuilding along the Gulf Coast continued following the fall 2005 hurricanes Katrina and Rita. In New Orleans, 74 percent of all schools, and 49 percent of public schools, were open as of December, reported The Brookings Institution, a private research group. Another such group, Rand Corp., predicted the city's population by September 2008 would be 56 percent of the pre-Katrina total.

D. Earth burns, quakes

Mother Nature stayed active in the fall, with an earthquake in Hawaii, record-setting rains and floods in the northwest U.S., and a record early October snowstorm in Buffalo, N.Y.. Five firefighters were killed in a wildfire in southern California that authorities determined was arson.

E. Winter puts life on hold

Holiday blizzards dumped as much as four feet of snow in parts of Colorado and Kansas. Then record warmth in the northern and eastern U.S. stalled skiing, ice fishing and ice hockey, but brought out golfers and flowers, before a massive ice storm and freezing temperatures gripped Texas northward to Maine. And more than 100 inches of snow fell in upstate New York.

F. Food safety

E. coli bacteria appeared in produce shipped to several states, raising safety concerns. At least 175 people became ill after eating fresh spinach, and two people died. Lettuce was deemed the culprit when people in the Northeast U.S. became ill after eating at Taco Bell.

The U.S. Census Bureau estimated the country grew to 300 million people in October.

Katie Couric became anchor of the CBS Evening News.

Billionaire Warren Buffett planned to give 85% of his Berkshire Hathaway fortune to philanthropic foundations.

Freezing temperatures in January destroyed 75% of California's citrus crop.

G. Hussein gone

Former Iraq president Saddam Hussein and other officials of his regime were executed for crimes against humanity after being found guilty in the deaths of 143 people from the town of Dujail in 1982. He was hanged in a chamber where his regime carried out death sentence orders.

H. 9/11 five years later

Ceremonies marked the fifth anniversary of the 9/11 terrorist attack. Tributes took place at Ground Zero, where the World Trade Center towers once stood in New York, at the Pentagon and at Shanksville, Pa. Meanwhile, work continued on Freedom Tower, the skyscraper that will replace the World Trade Center towers.

I. A new Congress

Voters in the November midterm elections gave the Democrats a majority in Congress for the first time in a decade. With the victory, Rep. Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif., became the first female speaker of the House. The majority in the Senate was in jeopardy for a time because Sen. Tim Johnson, D-S.D., underwent brain surgery for intracerebral bleeding in December.

J. President Ford dies

Gerald R. Ford Jr., 93, the 38th president, died at home in California in December. Ford was the only president and vice president never to be elected to those offices. He was appointed vice president by President Richard Nixon, and he assumed the presidency when Nixon resigned amid the Watergate scandal in the 1970s. Ford is remembered for pardoning Nixon.

Construction began for a Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. memorial on the National Mall in Washington, D.C.

Dow Jones industrial average broke 12,500 for the first time.

Milton Friedman, Nobel Prize-winning economist who defined free-market economic theory, died at 94.

Pope Benedict XVI visited Istanbul's Blue Mosque, only the second papal visit ever to a Muslim place of worship.

K

K. Communities shattered

Three school shootings in one week in the fall took the lives of nine people. Charles C. Robert IV entered the one-room West Nickel Mines Amish School in Pennsylvania and shot 10 girls, ages 6 to 13, and then himself. Five girls and Roberts died. In Wisconsin, a 15-year-old student at Weston School shot his principal, and in Bailey, Colo., a man shot a 16-year-old girl and himself after a standoff.

L. Ailing leader

Cuban officials claimed President Fidel Castro was slowly recovering from major surgery, and planned to return to power when he was well. Although Castro issued a message on New Year's Day, the 48th anniversary of his revolution, the fact that he had not been seen and few photos were released fueled speculation about the true condition of his health.

M. Ethics charge

Durham County, N.C., prosecutor Michael Nifong was charged with ethics violations in the case of three Duke University lacrosse teammates accused of sexual assault. The North Carolina bar filed the charges against Nifong, claiming he made inappropriate statements to the media about the suspects and DNA evidence.

Former Texas Gov. Ann Richards, famous for a 1988 Democratic convention speech, died in Austin.

New York City could have an all-day rush hour by 2030, city planners and other experts said.

N

N. Continent in turmoil

Armed conflict and starvation continued across Africa. Somalia, with the help of Ethiopia, fought to quell Islamic militants. The U.S. made airstrikes against militants thought to be hiding al Qaeda suspects in the 1998 bombings of U.S. embassies in Tanzania and Kenya. In Sudan's Darfur region, the United Nations sought help for starving refugees amid fighting between rebels and government militia.

O. They come; should they go?

Congress, the president and American citizens grappled with the emotional and economic issue of illegal immigration. The debate ranged from sending home all people in the U.S. illegally and fining employers who hire them to amnesty and a guest worker program. President George W. Bush signed a bill to build 700 miles of new fencing along the U.S.-Mexican border.

Rep. Mark Foley, R-Fla., resigned after inappropriate emails to Congressional pages were brought to light.

Cartoon characters appeared on fruits and vegetables to promote healthier eating.

P. Removing trans fats

Use of trans fats was stopped in some high-profile settings. New York City's health board banned them in restaurants, as did Universal Parks and Resorts and Walt Disney Resorts at their U.S. parks. Trans fats are less expensive to use, but increase bad cholesterol levels, a factor in heart disease.

Q. Helping hand

Oprah Winfrey opened a school for disadvantaged girls in South Africa, named the Oprah Winfrey Leadership Academy. Winfrey spent more than $40 million to build and supply the academy and helped to interview and select the first 152 girls to admit. The school will eventually have 450 girls. Winfrey plans to build a second school for boys and girls in South Africa.

R. Spy thriller

Interpol joined the investigation of the death of former Russian KGB agent Alexander Litvinenko, who died from ingesting radioactive polonium-210, but not before claiming Russian President Vladimir Putin was behind his poisoning. The Kremlin denied the accusation. The investigation strained the relationship between the Russian and British governments.

S. U.S. pressures Iran

The United States continued to seek ways to pressure Iran to stop its nuclear program. The United Nations Security Council passed a resolution imposing sanctions on Iran to stop uranium enrichment, which Iran claimed was for electricity generation and not weapons. The U.S. also announced sanctions against Bank Sepah, which provides international banking services in the Middle East.

T. Ask for it by name

Pseudoephedrine is a great decongestant when you have a cold. Unfortunately, it is also used to make methamphetamine, so the government made pharmacies take products such as Sudafed and Drixoral off the shelves. Now adults who want the medicine, must ask for it, show photo identification and sign a logbook.

A. Indy does it

Playing in a soggy downpour in Miami, the Indianapolis Colts won Super Bowl XLI by defeating the Chicago Bears, 29-17. Though the game was plagued by both teams fumbling in the rain, Indy quarterback Peyton Manning was chosen the game's MVP after leading the team to almost 500 yards of offense. It was the first championship for Manning and coach Tony Dungy, both long considered two of the best in the game.

B. Italian delight

Italy won the fourth World Cup title in the nation's history, winning a 5-3 shootout over France in the final match, after the two teams battled to a 1-1 draw in regulation time. The championship game was marred when French star Zinedine Zidane was ejected for a vicious head butt.

C. Gator bait

The Florida Gators chomped on Ohio State in the BCS National Championship Game, routing the Buckeyes 41-14. Florida quarterback Chris Leak easily outplayed his Heisman Trophy counterpart, Ohio State's Troy Smith, and Florida became the first school to win a college football and college basketball national title in a 12-month span.

The U.S. men's basketball team struggled, losing to Greece at the World Championships.

Texas Tech coach Bobby Knight got his 880th win, a new record for college basketball.

D. Good-bye, Andre

Tennis star Andre Agassi brought his competitive career to an end, retiring after 20 years as a pro because of various back injuries. Considered one of the all-time greats, Agassi was one of only five players in history to win all four Grand Slam titles.

E. Fast friends

Golfer Tiger Woods and tennis star Roger Federer, possibly the two most dominant individual athletes in sports, amused the media by striking up a public friendship. The buddies each had a great year: Federer broke the record for most consecutive weeks ranked number one in the world, and Woods won six tournaments in a row, including the British Open and the PGA Championship.

F. It's in the Cards

After sneaking into the playoffs with only 83 wins, the St. Louis Cardinals stunned the baseball world by advancing to the World Series, and then promptly knocked off the Detroit Tigers in five games. Scrappy shortstop David Eckstein was the unlikely MVP for the unlikely champs.

Sports Illustrated named Miami Heat guard Dwayne Wade the Sportsman of the Year.

G. Quite a year

After finishing second in 2003 and 2004, NASCAR driver Jimmie Johnson finally broke through and won his first Nextel Cup championship. Johnson became the first driver to win the Daytona 500, the Brickyard 400 and the Nextel Cup all in the same season.

H. Call it a comeback

Coming off a year where she was plagued by a chronic knee injury and her world ranking plummeted, Serena Williams kicked off 2007 in fine comeback style by winning the Australian Open, knocking off top-ranked Maria Sharapova in the process.

I. Testing troubles

Two high-profile American athletes dealt with the fallout from failed performance-enhancing drug tests. Cyclist Floyd Landis won the Tour de France, but was then stripped of the title. Sprinter Justin Gatlin, an Olympic Gold medalist and world record holder in the 100 meters, was banned from competition for eight years.

J

J. Back to school

New rules dictated that basketball players could not enter the NBA draft until they were at least one year removed from high school. As a result, several highly touted players, such as Ohio State's Greg Oden, planned on spending at least one year playing college basketball before turning pro.

K. A terrible accident

Just days after his team was eliminated from the playoffs, New York Yankees pitcher Cory Lidle was killed when the small plane he was co-piloting accidentally crashed into a New York City apartment building. The crash also killed flight instructor Tyler Strange.

L. What a flip

Motorsports athlete Travis Pastrana stole the show at the X Games by becoming the first competitor to ever land a double backflip during a motocross competition. Even though the move won him the Freestyle MX gold medal, Pastrana said he had no plans to ever try the stunt again.

M. Coming to America

British soccer star David Beckham surprised many by signing a deal to play for the Los Angeles Galaxy of MLS. Essentially a household name in England and throughout Europe, Beckham immediately provided some credibility for the American league, typically considered a notch below the European leagues.

N. A lady tiger

Mexican golfer Lorena Ochoa was named the AP Female Athlete of the Year after a season in which she won six tournaments on the LPGA tour and earned more than $2.5 million in winnings.

O. Ouch!

Serious youth sports injuries continued to become more common, especially with the continued proliferation of extreme sports like snowboarding and skateboarding. Doctors were concerned that teens who suffered knee ligament tears were becoming more susceptible to early arthritis.

Kentucky Derby winning horse Barbaro was put to sleep after an 8-month ordeal from a broken leg.

Legendary Boston Celtics coach Red Auerbach, who led the team to nine titles, died at age 89.

The Detroit Shock won their second WNBA title in four years.

P. Game of the year

Small school Boise State went 12-0 during the college football season, and then became the subject of debate by being included in the BCS. The team provided quite a response, knocking off Oklahoma in an overtime thriller in the Fiesta Bowl, both sending the game into OT and then winning the game on trick plays.

Q. The next great one?

Sidney Crosby of the Pittsburgh Penguins became the youngest player in NHL history to score 100 points in a season during his rookie year in 2006. In 2007, the 19-year old became the youngest player ever voted in as a starter for the NHL All-Star Game.

A. YouTube goes Google

The wildly popular website YouTube, which allows users to exchange video clips, was purchased by internet portal Google for $1.65 billion. The deal got mixed reviews. YouTube benefited from Google's global reach, but users complained when hundreds of copyrighted clips were removed from the site.

B. The latest gadget

Technology innovator Apple jumped into the wireless phone business with its latest product, iPhone. Designed to combine a digital camera, PDA, media player and wireless phone in one device with a touchpad screen, the iPhone cost between $500-600.

C. A reason to hope

For the second straight year, cancer deaths in the U.S. dropped. The totals decreased by 3,014 deaths. Doctors attributed the success to declines in smoking, as well as earlier and more effective treatment of tumors.

D. Game of choice

Sony fired the latest salvo in the video game wars by releasing the PlayStation 3 device to compete with Microsoft's Xbox 360. With models featuring 20GB and 60GB of memory for media storage, Sony plugged the PS3 as much more than just a video game console.

E. Save the seafood

A group of ecologists published a study indicating that if current trends of overfishing and pollution continued, then the seafood industry faced a possible collapse by 2048.

F. A new treatment

The FDA approved a new drug called Gardasil, which claimed to be a vaccine to treat the virus that can cause cervical cancer. Guidelines called for the drug to be administered to girls as young as 11 or 12 before they become sexually active. Some conservative religious groups immediately voiced concern that doing so would promote promiscuity.

G. Lady first

Anousheh Ansari, the co-founder of her own technology company, became the first female space tourist. Ansari accompanied U.S. astronauts and Russian cosmonauts on an eight-day mission to the International Space Station and became the first person to publish a blog from space.

H. Race to the moon and beyond

The U.S., Japan, Russia and China all continued renewed efforts to send manned missions back to the moon for the first time in more than 30 years, and started plotting manned missions to Mars. Scientists guessed that by 2020, both goals might be reached.

I. Future fuels

BMW became the first auto manufacturer to take a hydrogen-powered car into mass production by producing 100 models of the Hydrogen 7, a car powered by pumping hydrogen into a combustion engine and igniting it. Meanwhile, more ethanol fuel refineries continued to open across the country.

J. Think it, move it

Advances in medicine allowed doctors to hone and improve artificial limbs, including "bionic" arms that can be controlled by impulses from the brain. The U.S. military began projects to research the thought-controlled arms for use by wounded soldiers returning home.

A. A shocking end

Steve Irwin, the Australian nature adventurer known worldwide as the "Crocodile Hunter," was tragically killed while shooting underwater footage for one of his popular wildlife shows. Irwin died when a stingray stung him, and the barb pierced his heart.

B. Top of the list

In an annual survey of the highest-paid actresses in Hollywood, Nicole Kidman landed on top for the first time by earning an average of $17 million per movie. Kidman also became one-half of another high-profile entertainment couple, marrying country star and fellow Aussie Keith Urban.

C. Almost a dream

Dreamgirls, a musical loosely based on the rise to fame of Motown legends The Supremes, actually led all films with eight Oscar nominations. Surprisingly, the movie did not get a nod for Best Picture. However, the music and the individual performances of stars Eddie Murphy and Jennifer Hudson were honored.

D. Ahoy, matey!

The Pirates of the Caribbean movie saga continued, and ruled the box office. The second movie in the series, Dead Man's Chest, was easily the highest grossing movie of 2006, earning more than $420 million. The third, and final, installment was scheduled for release in the summer of 2007.

E. Grammy haul

The Dixie Chicks were big winners at the Grammy Awards, taking home five honors, including Album of the Year, Song of the Year and Record of the Year. It was an unexpected haul for the country trio, after the group drew years of criticism for its stance against the Iraq War.

F. Night switch

ABC moved medical drama Grey's Anatomy from Sunday night to Thursday to go head-to-head against highly rated crime show CSI. Both shows continued to do well. Combined, the two shows attracted more than 40 million viewers on Thursdays.

The Price Is Right host Bob Barker retired after 35 years on the show.

Movie critic Roger Ebert took an extended leave due to a battle with cancer.

Daniel Craig was a hit as the new James Bond in the remake of Casino Royale.

G. Better together

Struggling TV networks WB and UPN merged to form a new channel called The CW. The fledgling new network was filled with several popular shows geared toward the teen audience, such as The Gilmore Girls, Smallville, Veronica Mars and One Tree Hill.

H. Borat in America

No movie made bigger waves than Borat, a comedy about the antics of a politically incorrect journalist from Kazakhstan who visits America. Comedian Sacha Baron Cohen created and played the fictitious title character, and received both praise for his creativity and scorn for his controversial material.

I. Interesting mix

The Academy Awards produced a unique set of Best Picture nominees. The Departed, the winner, was about police corruption; and Letters From Iwo Jima was a World War II movie told from the Japanese perspective. Babel told the story of an American couple encountering tragedy while vacationing in Morocco. The other nominees were the child beauty pageant comedy Little Miss Sunshine and The Queen, a biopic on England's Queen Elizabeth II.

A. Perk up

More teens became caffeine consumers. Simmons Research said 31% of U.S. teens, or 7.6 million, drank energy drinks. The energy drink industry grew 80% last year, and mainly targeted males in their teens and 20s with their caffeine and sugar concoctions.

B. Cursive writing outdated

The number of students using cursive handwriting had declined. Fewer elementary schools are teaching it, and more students are printing. Eighty-five percent of students who took the 2006 SAT test for college printed their essay answers.

C. The '80s are back

Long sweaters, leggings, tall boots, wide belts, big black sunglasses and big jewelry – designers took 1980s fashions for women and gave them a twist for the new century. Untucked button shirts over tees, Polo shirts and cargo pants were still mainstays for the guys. And fashion went beyond clothes, with cell phone bling in the form of stickers, faceplates, charms and holders.

D. Feed me

Lunch lines moved faster thanks to technology that let parents keep funds in an account that the student can access. Children at some schools used an account number, while other students use fingerprints to make their purchases. Parents also saw what their children were buying.

Studies showed that talking on a hands-free cell phone while driving is equivalent to driving legally drunk, Time magazine reported.

Teen pregnancies fell to their lowest level in 65 years, the Centers for Disease Control reported.

E. Get the message
